MONTHLY CLEANING ROUTINE REVIEW

Look at the plan with curiosity. No catching up required.

Month reviewed: _____ Review date: _____

What changed this month?

Think work hours, activities, visitors, illness, access, and available energy.

_____

_____

One thing that worked and should stay:

_____

_____

Review up to three jobs

Use observations, not a household score. Include setup and putting away.

1. Job / planned timing: _____

What actually happened? _____

Main sticking point: _____

Whose input do we need? _____

2. Job / planned timing: _____

What actually happened? _____

Main sticking point: _____

Whose input do we need? _____

3. Job / planned timing: _____

What actually happened? _____

Main sticking point: _____

Whose input do we need? _____

A missed session is information. Immediate food mess, spills, and hazards still need attention.

MONTHLY CLEANING ROUTINE REVIEW

Keep what works. Choose one or two changes to test.

Decide what happens next

Keep = works well Adjust = change timing/scope Share = agree ownership

Drop = remove an unnecessary expectation; retain necessary care and safety tasks.

Change 1 / task: _____

☐ Keep ☐ Adjust ☐ Share ☐ Drop

New day / cue: _____

Who / agreed finish line: _____

What would improvement look like? _____

Change 2 / task: _____

☐ Keep ☐ Adjust ☐ Share ☐ Drop

New day / cue: _____

Who / agreed finish line: _____

What would improvement look like? _____

Our low-energy backup

Name the essentials for a demanding day and a safe closing step.

Missed-job rule:

Reassess current need: act now, return to the regular slot, or defer an optional project.

Next review date: _____ Who checks in? _____

Want ongoing structure? Explore Cleaners Clubhouse at cleanersclubhouse.com.

Keep product-label directions, item care instructions, and essential hygiene in your plan.
This free worksheet is a planning tool; no purchase or membership is needed to use it.