Silicone Baking Mat Care Card

Everyday care for an intact food-use mat. Follow its exact instructions.

☐ Cool and inspect

Let the mat cool before handling. Check both faces and the edges.
Set aside cuts, splits, lifting layers, or exposed reinforcement.
Do not trim, patch, or try to scrub damage away.

☐ Check the washing instructions

Brand / model: _____
Use its permitted mild soap, water temperature, and tools.

☐ Wash both sides gently

Support the mat broadly on a clean surface. Remove loose crumbs.
Use a soft nonabrasive sponge or cloth. Wipe both faces and border.
Keep knives, scrapers, abrasive pads, and sharp folds away.

☐ Rinse with clean water

Rinse both faces and the border. Do not trap soapy water underneath.
If food remains, repeat only the allowed gentle washing method.

☐ Dry completely

Keep the mat flat and open in a clean drying area.
Follow its air-drying or permitted towel-drying directions.
Check the underside before stacking or storing. Do not wring.

☐ Store without creases

Store flat, or loosely rolled if the maker permits.
Protect it from sharp objects, heavy edges, and tight bands.

Appearance is only one clue

Do not chase every stain with harsher cleaning. Assess food residue, surface changes, and damage using the product maker's guidance.

Care sources checked November 1, 2026. Full links and notes on page 2.

Silicone Baking Mat Care Card

Fill this page from your product manual, not another brand's instructions.

Brand, product name, and size

Manual link or where the instructions are kept

Allowed soap, washing method, and tools

Dishwasher permission, rack, and loading rules (or hand-wash only)

Drying instructions and storage location

Condition concern / date noticed

Next action / who will handle it

Need a steadier kitchen routine?

Explore Cleaners Clubhouse for practical cleaning guidance and printable support. This care card is free to use on its own.

www.cleanersclubhouse.com

Care references (your exact product instructions take priority):

Fat Daddio's: Silicone Bakeware Care

Silpat Care Instructions - hosted by WebstaurantStore

Stop and ask the maker when damage or a changed surface is unresolved.